

Help keep the room open.

AutomateNI Supporter Pack

Practical help for a Northern Ireland community where people share what they build.

A room. Food. Equipment.
Access for more people.

Show & Tell should stay free wherever possible.
Support helps pay for the practical parts.

Founded and organised by Callum Janes.

Founding supporter: Galvia Digital.

Support is agreed with the organiser for each event.
The community programme stays practical and open.

Ways to help

Choose something useful for an actual event; agree scope with the organiser.

Venue and access

A suitable room, screen, seating and clear access information.

Food and drinks

Make it easier to come after work. Include non-alcoholic and dietary options.

Equipment

Useful kit for a Build Night or a specific demonstration.

Photography

Consented, credited images that document the actual night.

A small budget

Help with agreed event, print or accessibility costs.

Recognition and boundaries

Support makes the programme possible. It does not buy control of it.

Founding supporter

Galvia Digital holds this public role. Callum Janes remains the named founder and organiser.

Hosted by / supported by

Event-specific credit follows the contribution actually agreed. No organisation is described as a partner merely because it appears in a photograph.

The programme

Supporters may propose demos. They are considered on the same basis as other contributions.

Member data

Joining AutomateNI or sending an enquiry is not consent for a supporter's marketing list.

Honest evidence

No attendance, reach or outcome guarantee is offered before there is evidence.

Start with the practical details

Use /sponsor/ on the AutomateNI website to start the conversation.

What could you provide?

A room, food, equipment, access support or an agreed budget.

Which event or format?

Show & Tell, Build Night or Automation Clinic.

Scope and limits

Dates, capacity, collection, setup and anything excluded.

People responsible

Name one person on each side and agree the next check-in.

Recognition and permissions

Agree wording and any approved logos or photos before publishing.
